9/11: Why Are Muslim Leaders Silent While Millions Suffer, Die?

"He who knows only his own side of the case knows little of that" — John Stuart Mill

The CIA created the label "conspiracy theorists" to attack those challenging the "official" narrative

"Putting a curb on dissent . . . , is not the Islamic way" — Maulana Wahiduddin Khan

"According to Sufism, the supreme goal of human life is to attain Truth" — Seyyed Hossein Nasr

"Be ever steadfast in upholding equity, bearing witness to the truth" — Quran 4:135

by Enver Masud

On this 18th anniversary of the tragic events of September 11, 2001, more than 3000 military and intelligence personnel, pilots, engineers, architects, and other professionals question the official account of 9/11. Some believe 9/11 was a Mossad / PNAC operation. The number of skeptics continues to increase -- both in the U.S. and abroad.

In the long history of the world, only a few generations have been granted the role of defending freedom in its hour of maximum danger. I do not shrink from this responsibility. I welcome it. — John F. Kennedy, Inaugural Address Jan. 20, 1961

However, few Muslim leaders appear among the 3000 American patriots who have long been speaking out on the defining issue of the century — 9/11.

America's wars, falsely justified by 9/11, have killed millions of Muslims. Many more have been maimed, wounded, become refugees, and wrongly incarcerated. Civil liberties have eroded. About 20 veterans commit suicide daily. Wars have contributed significantly to our $21 trillion debt.

The evidence against the official account of 9/11 is overwhelming. Evidence submitted by the author to the International Criminal Court is being maintained in their archives.

Polls show America, along with Israel, is considered the biggest threat to world peace.

While Muslims are the biggest victims of 9/11, American Muslim leaders and organizations have not only failed to speak out against the official account of 9/11, they have prevented Muslims who do from being widely heard. They have failed to examine the evidence, and/or enter into dialogue with those who have and are speaking out. Some have issued statements against "terrorism" without noting that in international conflicts "terrorism" is a subjective term often used by the oppressor to demonize the victim.

In September 2001, Hamza Yusuf -- renowned Islamic scholar and co-founder and president of Zaytuna College, endorsed the "war on terror". He "was the sole Muslim representative in a delegation of religious leaders who met President George W Bush".

The vice-president of the Islamic Society of North America (ISNA -- largest Muslim organization in North America) has, without examination, accepted the official account of 9/11.

ISNA's position is supported by officials of the Council on American Islamic Relations (CAIR), Islamic Circle of North America (ICNA), Muslim Public Affairs Council (MPAC), All Dulles Area Muslim Society (ADAMS) -- organizations often cited by mainstream news media.

Graham Fuller, former vice chairman of the National Intelligence Council at the CIA, writes (A World Without Islam, p. 41), "the closer religion gets linked with state power the further it drifts away from the realm of intellect and spirit and into the realm of the political".

The internationally recognized Muslim scholar, Maulana Wahiduddin Khan, wrote:

putting a curb on dissent or criticism, or upbraiding dissenters, is not the Islamic way. The method of Islam is to listen to opposite viewpoints and then attempt, by well reasoned argument, to remove the grounds for dissent.

One of the foremost authorities on Islam, Seyyed Hossein Nasr, University Professor of Islamic Studies at George Washington University, wrote (p. 30):

According to Sufism, the supreme goal of human life is to attain Truth, which is also Reality, the source of all reality, and whose attainment, as also stated by Christ, makes us free, delivering us from the bondage of ignorance.

Understandably, Prof. Nasr, like millions of others, accepted the official explanation in 2006.

According to the "most influential English language philosopher of the nineteenth century" John Stuart Mill (1806-73):

He who knows only his own side of the case knows little of that. His reasons may be good, and no one may have been able to refute them. But if he is equally unable to refute the reasons on the opposite side, if he does not so much as know what they are, he has no ground for preferring either opinion. . . . Nor is it enough that he should hear the opinions of adversaries from his own teachers, presented as they state them, and accompanied by what they offer as refutations. He must be able to hear them from persons who actually believe them . . . he must know them in their most plausible and persuasive form.

The U.S. government's theory of 9/11 is not supported by the evidence -- it's authors have not responded to challenges to their theory. A 1967 CIA dispatch instructed its agents to attack challengers of the "official" narrative by labeling them "conspiracy theorists".

The false account of 9/11 has caused trillions of dollars to be diverted from spending on Americans' needs to spending on war. The U.S. and its ally Israel are viewed as the biggest threats to world peace.

The Quran (4:135) warns Muslims to "Be ever steadfast in upholding equity, bearing witness to the truth for the sake of God, even though it be against your own selves or your parents and kinsfolk."
